

TARIFF PICTURES.

The Press' lately showed that beet sugar had more than doubled its production in a single year under the bounty system. The friends of the tariff have increased under the bounty so that our total production, as indicated by the bounty payments, rose to pounds in 1892.

481,070,322

pounds in 1893 from 378,115,217

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.—Fewer grangers and silver hoarders in Congress now and more business men would be a great benefit to the country.

OUR CURRENCY BARGAIN COUNTER.

Washington Star.—There is a growing sentiment to the effect that an arrangement by which a man drops a piece of silver into the Treasury and takes out gold is not likely to prove a profitable or even a self-sustaining enterprise. And this, too, with the very slight difficulty that is experienced in getting customers.

WHERE BOOTH SLEEPS.

New York Post.—Montgomery Auburn, the country where Edson Booth was buried, is selected for its beauty. It is in Old Cahokia about one mile from Harvey College and half that distance from the residence of the late poet, Longfellow. Edwin Booth's brother Junius, Charles Sumner, the late Vice-President, Henry Wilson, James Russell Lowell and many other famous dead sleep there.

IT COSTS TO HUNT BIG GAME.

Boston Globe.—“Heretics” are pretty expensive luxuries, according to the estimates of the cost of the Briggs trial. The mere board bills of the Commissioners to the recent Presbyterian General Assembly while considering the case amounted to over $13,000. Rev. Dr. Bartlett, Chairman of the Local Committee, said that the cost will be the General Assembly $50,000, while it is said that Colonel McCook spent $90,000 out of his own pocket besides. However, such prices cannot stand, for very few will be found making the heroic defense in the future that Dr. Briggs has put on record. In fact, according to present indications, the General Assembly will soon be able to get all the heretics it wants at mere nominal figures.

“ALL THINGS COME TO HIM WHO WAITS.”

Frankfort Capital.—It may not be forgotten by those who keep in touch with legislative events, that some moons since, Mr. Charlton, one of the Representatives in the General Assembly from Louisville, introduced and secured the adoption of a resolution calling Mr. Halbert, another member of the same committee of Louisville, to Frankfort, to personally respond to inquiries touching some objectionable remarks alleged to have been made by him concerning the General Assembly. Time flew by, and Charlton becomes involved in alleged charges against his brother members. Whereupon, Brer. Halbert copies the exact language of Brer. Charlton’s resolution, with only the changes of name from Halbert to Charlton, and yesterday the House adopted the amended document. The resolution will be found in our regular legislative report. The concensus of opinion in the premises, outside the legislative House—as expressed by one of the unrighteous—is that Brer. Halbert, at present, holds the Age—whatever that may mean.

WORLD’S FAIR SUNDAYS.

New Orleans Times-Democrat.—The country will rejoice over it, but because of the opportunities it offers workingmen to profit by this great display and because it is a grand opportunity narrow Puritanism, which has no place in a country broad, liberal and enlightened as the United States.

Cottage Herald.—It penetrates to the foundation on which the Federal Government rests. It vindicates and establishes the fundamental state home rule. It contains the saving essence, the vital inspiration of the Constitution of the United States, which reserves to the states and to the people all the powers not delegated to Congress.

There is still another subject for congratulation in this decision. It is a new declaration of independence for the rights of conscience and for religious liberty. It is a decree of divorce separating their vital law and the police from the other vital law, and it will bind and conscience impose upon himself in his form of worship, in his Sabbath days, and in his own interpretations of Gospel legislation.

Cottage Tribune.—The avowed object of the Directors in fighting for the opening of the Fair on the first day of the week, was that the workingmen might visit it on their rest day. The Directors have carried their point. The next step should be to put it in the power of all the workingmen, whether poorly or well paid, to reap the fruits of the victory won in their name by reducing the price of admission on certain Sundays one-half.

Circulation More Than 1,000 Daily.

The Business Way! The business to advertise is to take space by the year, take pains with your advertising, in making them attractive, and change them at least as often as once a month.

You may think there are seasons when you don't need to advertise.

We have never seen that time.

Use the dull seasons for looking over your stock and running off that which is becoming out of style or unfashionable, and giving bairns.

If you have space by the year, it costs you no more, and you can make it profitable by converting unsaleable goods into money, and reinvesting the money in those things which are salable.

The pearl button industry, to which the McKinley Bill gave so notable a start, resulting in the establishment of prosperous factories at Lynn and elsewhere, has received a knock-down blow at the hands of Judge LACOME at New York.

The Tariff greatly injured the manufacture of pearl buttons in Austria, and pearl "blanks" were sent to this country and imported or shrank here. The importers claimed that this did not subject to a duty of 40 per cent ad valorem, whereas on the finished buttons the duty was 2½ cents a line and 25 per cent ad valorem. The appraiser, however, decided that the duty on the "blanks" was the same as on the finished buttons.

Importers continued to bring over the "blanks," and to bore and shrink them here, and entered a protest each time over paying the duty.

The cases were carried in the meantime to the United States Circuit Court by COMSTOCK & BROWN, attorneys for a combination at the head of which was the firm of SCHAFF, SACHS & CO., representatives of Austrian manufacturers. Judge LACOME decided that the blanks were subject to a duty of only 40 per cent ad valorem. The Government appealed the case, and Judge LACOME's decision was sustained. The Court ruled that a piece of mother-of-pearl which had been made into a button with the sole exception of not having been supplied with holes or a shank was not a button within the sense of the tariff.

World's Fair Train. C and O train No. 17, leaving Huntington at 6:30 a.m., reaching Cincinnati at 2:30 p.m., making a stop at Indianapolis for Chicago, reaching the World's Fair City before 10 p.m.

By this train passengers are sure of securing comfortable seats and avoiding expense of Pullman sleeping cars.

Every one who has taken this train is delighted with it, as it reaches Chicago at a good bedtime, and one can start out to the World's Fair every next morning, refreshed by a good night's sleep.

PEOPLE OF ANCIENT YUCATAN.

Ancient Evidence of Their Warlike as Well as Skilled Architects.

Although the language and history of the ancient people of Yucatan have been lost to the world, their bones left behind them demonstrate that which is difficult to determine—the fact that in many respects they were of a wonderful as well as a warlike race previous to the discovery of the country in 1801. That they were a race of the world's great adventurers from their coast, but apart from that all along the low-lying coast of Yucatan and extending inland are found small watch-towers of stones, standing on raised mounds, so arranged that signals of smoke or smoke could easily be conveyed from one to the other. In addition, mural paintings of warriors in battle array have been numerously found. The wonderful character of the people is easily inferred from the ruins of the cities. All of these are declared by the Philadelphia Ledger to display remarkable architectural ability. Massive in structure, intricate, rich and grotesque in carving, many of these buildings stand to-day in ruins, some still standing, while macadamized roads, raised two or more feet above the general level and surfaced with hard smooth cement, led from terrace to terrace and from one community to another.

An Extraordinary Legal Document.

One of the most remarkable legal papers ever filed in the archives of the world is now in the national museum of Paris, labeled: "Sentence on a hog, executed by justice, in the cophy of Clarmont-Avin, and strangled upon a spit that it should not speak again." It is sealed with wax and kept under lock and key.

It is written in Latin, and reads as follows: "• • • We, the jury, in detestation and horror of this crime, and in order to make an example, and to satisfy justice, have decided and pronounced sentence of death, and appointed that the said hog, now detained in the abbey as a prisoner, shall by the executioner be hung and strangled on a gibbet near the gallows which is within the jurisdiction of the abbey, whereon we have hanged, near the cophy of Arvin, in witness of which we have sealed this present with our seals." Following the above are the signatures of the jurors and the prefect of the department of l'Ainse.

Lowell Distilled Liqueur.

James Russell Lowell was a Harvard graduate, a poet, a historian, a statesman, a never tired lecturer. Prof. Norton says that he was always scrupulously attentive to his duties, but "the stated hours and seasons of work were irksome to him and adverse from his natural temperament," before he says, in his memoirs, "I began to feel a real dissatisfaction of lecturing next Wednesday. I cannot get used to it.

The Behring Sea Case Began.

PARIS, June 23.—Mr. Phelps began the summing up for the United States in the Behring Sea case against Russia. He said the real question before the tribunal was, "Shall the Canadians be allowed to defy America by destroying animals belonging to Americans?" The states did not wish to interfere with the rights of the Indians, but the limits were limited to such liberty. Both England and the United States had agreed that it was desirable to put a stop to the slaughter of seals, and it was a desire to please Canada, and an agreement between Lord Salisbury and Mr. Bayard was not carried out.

GAS EXPLOSION.

Disaster in the Shaft of the Susquehanna Coal Co.

Five Persons Instantly Killed and Four Badly Injured.

The Explosion Shock the Town of Nanticoke, Pa., Near—all the Bodies Recovered Except One. The Infected Man in a Bed Way—a Fattened Wife.

NANTICOKE, Pa., June 23.—Gas exploded in a shaft of the Susquehanna Coal Co., Thursday afternoon. Five men were killed and three men and a boy badly injured.

The dead are Wm. Schmitz, James Smith, John Smyth, Abraham Walker and Pat McKeen.

The injured, Frank G. Wieschel, badly burned about arms and face, John G. Went, burned about head and face. John Miles, burned about head and breast. Unknown man burned about head.

All the bodies have been recovered with the exception of Walker's. It is supposed to be buried under the debris.

The shaft where the explosion took place is known as No. 1 shaft and the cause of the accident is not known.

The form of the explosion shows that a man was at work near the opening of the shaft.

The wives of the men below raised their voices in lamentation and the children, who had been crying the dismal sound, were brought up first. He was badly burned. The force of the explosion must have dashed him against the wall of the tunnel, for he was battered and blood was flowing from several wounds in his head.

All the injured are in fair way. It is feared that they have inhaled fumes. Walker's wife and little ones stood by while the work of bringing the men to the surface was going on and as each one of the bodies or one of the injured men was brought to the surface, the wife would try to get a view of the face.

The mine boss tried to lead her away, but she firmly resisted.

"I'm prepared to know the word," said she. "I'm afraid I'll die if I don't know it." She stood by the side of her husband, weeping, until the little ones whimpered at her side.

All the men were accounted for but the husband and father. The men knew he was buried under the great mass that had been shaken loose by the explosion.

Late Thursday night Mrs. Walker was still standing at the black opening waiting for the rescuing party to recover the remains of her husband.
